

CALL FOR PAPERS

XV²¹ Forum for Linguistic Sharing 3 July 2021, Lisbon, Portugal Online

The Young Researchers Group of CLUNL is pleased to announce the XV²¹ Forum for Linguistic Sharing, which will take place on the 3rd of July 2021.

The XV²¹ Forum for Linguistic Sharing is integrated into the 8th edition of NOVA- Lisbon Summer School in Linguistics and it aims to give the opportunity to young researchers to present and discuss their work in a relaxed and intellectually stimulating environment.

We invite postgraduate (Masters and Ph.D) students to submit abstracts for oral presentation on any area of linguistics, including: educational linguistics, historical linguistics, language acquisition, lexicography and lexicology, morphology, phonology, pragmatics, psycholinguistics, semantics, syntax, sociolinguistics, terminology and text linguistics. The abstracts should be submitted on <https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=xv21-fpl-2021> until the 21st of February. Accepted papers will be allotted 20 minutes for presentation and 10 minutes for discussion.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Each author may submit at most one abstract of a maximum of 500 words. References should only be in the submitted pdf format. The abstracts can be written in Portuguese or English and you should choose the area/s where they are inserted.

Please use the online registration form to submit your abstract, available at: <https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=xv21-fpl-2021>

This year's edition will be held online.
